You Can Take it With You: Tips for A Mobile Office

Computers have become such a part of the corporate world, it would be almost impossible to find an organization without one. These days, with people working from home and while traveling, laptops are outselling their larger and bulkier desktop brethren. Most executives have both, although many are using their laptops as their primary computers, thanks to their portability. Here are some practical tips for getting the most out of your laptop, whether you're at the office, at home, or on the road.

Buying tips

The portable computer is now available at very affordable prices, with low-end models beginning at around $500. The more expensive models are on a par with desktops as far as speed and storage are concerned. When purchasing a laptop, pay attention to the following:

- Stick to name brand manufacturers. Customer support will be more reliable.
- If you plan to use it a lot on the go, find one that's under 5 lbs.
- Look for a model with a spill-resistant keyboard and a shock resistant hard drive.
- Purchase an extended warranty, generally for three years. Even if you have just one problem, it will pay for itself.
- Make sure that the screen is not too small for your eyes, and that the keyboard fits comfortably under your fingertips.
- If you plan to use it at the office and on the go, set up a "docking station" at your desk which would include a keyboard, mouse, and monitor.

Printing on the go

If you're on the go and need to print important documents, it's not always convenient to find a Kinko's. Purchase a small travel printer which can easily fit in your computer bag. Both Hewlett

Packard and Canon have a variety of models that are less than 5 lbs and sell for under $250.00

Protecting your stuff

Whether you're stationary or on the road, you need to back up your stuff. Purchase a USB flash drive, which is the size of a thumb, and you'll be able to back up and print from any computer.

Take measures to protect your unit from theft. Carry it in an inconspicuous case, and never leave it unattended, even for a moment. All information should be protected with a secure password. If you're using it in a hotel room, hide it before you leave. And always back up your data.

Thanks to these measures, you can now take your work anywhere you go. Just don't forget to take some time off, or you may burn out.
